MARY, FULL OF GRACE is a summary Mariology—a comprehensive study of the Blessed Virgin Mary as the one full to overflowing with the life of God. Dividing his work into two parts, Édouard Hugon, O.P., considers Mary's fullness of grace first as it pertains to herself and then as it relates to her children. Our Lady is “full of grace,” in Hugon’s words, “because she has received the plenitude of graces for herself and because she is the dispensatrix of graces for all the saints.”

“This book I consider one of the best written on the Blessed Virgin.”

— REGINALD GARRIGOU-LAGRANGE, O.P.

Masterfully translating Hugon’s brief but deeply insightful contribution to Mariology, John G. Brungardt supplements the volume with an original introduction and copious editorial notes, as well as an appendix of essays by himself, Hugon, and Reginald Garrigou-Lagrange, O.P.

The fourth volume in the THOMIST TRADITION book series, Mary, Full of Grace exemplifies how profundity of thought can illuminate sanctity of life in every generation.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

ÉDOUARD HUGON, O.P., (1867–1929) was a philosopher, theologian, and founding professor (along with Reginald Garrigou-Lagrange, O.P., and Thomas Pègues, O.P.) of the International Pontifical College Angelicum in Rome. Among his many authored works are the multi-volume Cursus philosophiae thomisticae and Tractatus Dogmatici.

JOHN G. BRUNGARDT is assistant professor of philosophy at the School of Catholic Studies at Newman University. He has written, researched, and presented extensively on the philosophical tradition of St. Thomas Aquinas, Aristotle, and their heirs, especially Charles De Koninck. Brungardt is also a lay member of the Dominican Order.
